To Antwoine who kept me from starving many a days.

i'd like to give a shout out to all the football players @ EH. I'd especially like to ask just who those two men are from room 317 who walk around in their underwear so much? .... studs.....

I'd also like to ask everyone what I can do to get PINK shirts out of style for men. hmmm come to think of it .. how about those boots for women too. You know the ones I'm talking about. The furry boots that look like you stuck your foot in the A#* of a small animal. I mean I am NOT a fashion expert in any sense, but let's get real here ... ha what's next? Are bell bottoms going to come back in-style? (wait ... sh*t!) ...

Nazlee, It doesn't matter what I say | So long as I sing with inflection. -Your Crazy Roomate

I'd also like to show my favoritism to EH3 RA, Jess Benash who is the best RA in this dorm.

Also, TP staff-thanks for making my relief a bit more entertaining---at least once every two weeks. I've tried other magazines and they didn't cut it...the DP? - too cumbersome ... I've tried holding it in for two weeks straight, but that was unsuccessful. Therefore, I conceed, TP... Will You marry me??? No longer a freshman (as long as I pass my exams) - B. Raike

Final Words on this Year

Isn't it crazy how fast this year went? Writing for the TP has been a lot of fun and surprisingly a lot of work. Who thought that writing 500 some odd words and finding useless information on the web to fill up two pages could be so difficult... I didn't. Anyway, since it is the end of the year, I thought it would be customary to give my final words on how this year was for me as Communications Manager.

It sucked. Just kidding. I had the opportunity to meet practically all of you who live in this dorm. And when I say practically, I don't include the football players or Stwing members. But it seems that even if I haven't introduced myself to you, you seem to know more about me than I do myself. For example, that entire personal on tissue number 4 was a way for you to get to know the real Franky.

Oh yeah, so many of you have actually asked where my name came from. Long story short, my mom liked the name Frank but alas, my cousin was named Frank. Also, according to her, Franky is much easier to yell over large distances than is Frank. You can actually try this in the privacy of your bathroom stall. Now why Franky instead of Frankie. Well my mom doubted my intelligence as a child so she decided on the y ending to avoid confusion on whether the "I" goes before the "E," etc. So yes, that is my name, Franky.

Yup, so you practically know me now. Anyway, from all of us in the manager board, we hope you had a great year living in KCECH. And let me end the final TP with a quote (with some minor adjustments) from no one other than Jack Black: "You people have all really touched me, and I'm pretty sure that I've touched you." Thanks again and have a great and SAFE summer!
